Get Rid of UGLY PIMPLES this new easy way!

Amazing new medicated lotion developed by a doctor works wonders by clearing up complexion in one week or less!

DON'T let a bad complexion ruin romance, spoil your fun, cause you to be embarrassed, shy or ashamed. If you suffer from acne, the common external cause of pimples among young people, try this wonderfully effective medicated lotion that was developed by a practicing physician to clear up his own teen ager's complexion after other methods had failed. It has produced astonishing results for many thousands of others. It is GUARANTEED to help you or it won't cost you a single cent!

Doesn't Show On Your Face

Keraplex is a skin-colored lotion (NOT a greasy salve or ointment!) that is quickly absorbed by the skin and gets right down in the pores where its healing and antiseptic ingredients can go to work. After you have applied it, there is no trace left on the surface. In fact, it makes a perfect powder base for girls and a refreshing after shaving lotion for men . . . actually improves the tone of the skin! It is pleasant and easy to use — leaving your skin soft, clean and fragrant.

Works in SIX Out of SEVEN Cases!

An analysis of RESULTS taken from actual case histories proves that Keraplex is successful in clearing up 6 of every 7 cases of externally caused pimples and blackheads. It tones up the complexion, giving it a healthy, radiant glow. And men — if you suffer from pimples on shoulders and back, Keraplex does an amazingly effective job of clearing them up FAST — without soiling clothes, without messiness or greasiness!

Try This New Method Without Risking A Penny!

Keraplex is GUARANTEED to clear up your skin troubles or there will be NO COST to you whatsoever. If yours happens to be the ONE extra-stubborn case out of seven which Keraplex cannot help in one short week, it will cost you nothing to have tried it. Keraplex is sent to you with that simple, positive GUARANTEE!

SEND NO MONEY

You need send no money with the coupon below. When postman delivers your Keraplex lotion (in plain wrapper marked "Personal"), deposit with him only the modest price indicated below, plus a few cents postage. Then use your Keraplex morning and night for a full week, following the simple directions which will be enclosed.

If you do not SEE RESULTS that delight you — if you are not fully convinced that Keraplex IS clearing up your complexion — just return the empty bottle or unused portion and the purchase price will be refunded in full. Don't delay a single day. The longer you let your skin troubles go, the more difficult it will be to clear them up and get your complexion back to a healthy, clear, unblemished condition! Clip and mail the coupon TODAY. Underwood Laboratories, Inc., Stratford, Conn.

THE RAFT

"PSSST, Jimmy . . . c' mere." Byron T. Norton, aged eight years, peeked around the rosebush and signaled his friend.

"Aw, it's By again," Jimmy said. It was a pretty bad time for Byron to interrupt, because Jimmy was right in the middle of a contest with a couple of kids from the other side of town to see who could jump the farthest. But Jimmy never let a friend down, and he trudged wearily over by the rosebush and said very crossly, "Whaddya want, By?"

"I just wanted to tell you that I'm right in the middle of building the most important, most wonderful, most . . ." Byron couldn't exactly think of just the right word to use just then. "Well, anyway," he finally decided, "you just come over to Anderson's lot and I'll show you."

"Oh, come on, Byron," Jimmy always used Byron's full name when he was just a little annoyed with him. "You've said that about a lot of things, but none of them ever turned out. Before I go with you, you're gonna have to tell me what it is."

Byron looked at the ground for a minute, then he said slowly, "You'd really have to see it, Jimmy, before you'd think it was anything."

"Tell me first!" It was a long walk over to Anderson's vacant lot, and hardly any of the kids ever went over there. Mr. Anderson had said that he really didn't mind the children playing there, but hardly any of them did any more.

It looked like Byron really wasn't going to tell right off what was so wonderful, so Jimmy coaxed, "Well, give me a hint anyway."

Byron's face brightened. "Well, it's about so big," he measured off the ground with his foot, "and about so wide . . . and it's made out of wood." Byron was getting excited all over again.

Now such a description of something is bound to make anybody curious, and Jimmy certainly did want to see this thing, so he finally gave in.

"O.K.," he finally said. "Let's go."

After about a half-hour's walk, the boys pushed aside a little tree in Anderson's lot and Byron said proudly, "There it is . . . isn't it super?"

On the ground in front of them rested a sort of platform. It was made out of wood all right. Byron had very carefully ripped apart all the old wooden crates he could find and nailed them together. Jimmy looked at the big pole sticking out of the very middle of the platform and pointed. "What's that?" he asked.

"That's the MAST!" Byron said, just a little disappointed because Jimmy hadn't guessed it right away.

"You mean this is supposed to be a boat?"

"Not exactly a boat," Byron said. "Don't tell me you've never seen a RAFT before?"

"Well, no," Jimmy admitted. "Have you?"

"Not really . . . but I've seen a picture of one in a book we have at home . . . and it looked an awful lot like this."

Jimmy walked closer to the raft and looked at it very carefully. He could imagine the way it would look on the river and how it would feel to float on it. "Gee, I'll bet it would be swell to be on it and take a trip," he said to Byron. "Doesn't it?"

After a long look, Byron was forced to admit, "I don't know. I've never taken a trip on it."

"You see," Byron went on to explain, "I've only just finished it and I tried to haul it down to the river from here all by myself, but it's a little heavy, and . . ."

"And you came to get me to help you," Jimmy finished for him.

"That's right, I thought we could both try it out together for the first time."

Jimmy only had to think about it for a minute. "Well, what are we waiting for," he said "C'mon, you take that side and I'll take this. The river is right down the hill."

The river turned out to be a little farther than right down the hill, and Byron and Jimmy stopped to rest a minute. They put the raft down very carefully on the ground and then turned and sat on it.

Finally Jimmy said, "You know, short trips on rafts aren't very much fun."

"I've been thinking that myself," Byron said. "Maybe we ought to take a long trip . . . maybe down to New Orleans or someplace."

"Swell!" Jimmy smiled at the thought. Then he frowned. "Except this river doesn't go to New Orleans. It just goes up there about five miles and then stops . . . or something."

"We can find a couple of branches to use as oars and row our way the other direction on the river," Byron thought out loud. "Then we'll get to the lake, or maybe the ocean!"

"Maybe we can go all around the world," Jimmy sighed.

It certainly was a wonderful idea, and both the boys just sat and thought about it for a long time.

"The only thing is," Jimmy frowned again, "it just might take a pretty long time, and I'm in a play at school next week."

Byron put his chin in his hands. "Oh, that old thing," he said.

The thought of travel was too much for Jimmy. Finally he jumped up and grabbed his end of the raft and said, "O.K. I didn't want to be in that play anyway."

They tugged and pulled and finally the raft slid into the muddy river. It floated right before their eyes, dipping backwards and forwards in the water.

"Let's go," Byron grinned, and both of them made a flying leap from the ground right onto the middle of the raft.

Before they knew it, their feet were wet and chilly and they looked down and saw the water swirling up around their ankles. The river was only about a foot deep there at the river bank, but it was very wet, and both of them lost no time scrambling up on shore again.

"It sank!" Byron moaned.

Jimmy shrugged. "Well, I really wanted to be in that play after all, you know," he told Byron.

"Oh well," By said, "Mom's having chocolate cake tonight and I wouldn't want to miss it."

Then he said, "We wouldn't have had a good time being world travelers anyway."
